

Journal of the American Society for SURGERY OF THE HAND

INSTRUCTIONS TO AUTHORS

EDITORIAL POLICY

The Journal of the American Society for Surgery of the Hand (JASSH) welcomes articles in English relating to any clinical aspect of surgery of the hand and upper extremity with a primary emphasis on authoritative reviews and technique manuscripts. Manuscripts describing original research, experimental laboratory studies, case reports, and certain other article formats are generally not appropriate. Send manuscripts and all correspondence relating to editorial management to

Editor, JASSH

Since JASSH attempts to provide comprehensive coverage of hand surgery over a five to six-year cycle, authors should clearly define the topic they wish to discuss and ensure that the topic does not conflict with previously published manuscripts in this journal. The Editor suggests that prospective authors submit a brief outline of the article they are proposing to write for JASSH to allow for some editorial guidance prior to submission.

COPYRIGHT AGREEMENT AND SUBMISSION LETTER

A copyright transfer agreement signed by all authors must accompany each submitted manuscript. The form of agreement may be obtained from the Editorial Office or alternatively, a full statement to the Editor that the manuscript under consideration has not been published previously, is not under consideration by or in press for any other publication, and does not substantially duplicate a previously similar work should be forwarded. Authors will also be queried as to whether or not any direct or indirect financial interest exists with respect to their subject matter.

PEER REVIEW

JASSH is a peer-reviewed publication, and all manuscripts will be sent to an independent, blind, peer-review editorial board for rigorous review. Decisions regarding manuscript publication rest solely with the Editorial Board and main Editorial Office.

MANUSCRIPT PREPARATION

In general, manuscripts should not exceed 25 double-spaced typewritten pages, excluding references and legends. Submit three (3) complete sets of the manuscript typed double spaced throughout on 22 × 28 cm (8½ × 11 inch) white paper with 1.5-cm (1-inch) margins all around. Number all pages consecutively beginning with the title page. Since the authors' identities are withheld from reviewers, authors' names are to appear only on the title page. An abstract of 150 or fewer words stating the general points and conclusions of the article is required. Each article should also contain an introductory section that presents an overview of the topic to be discussed and conclude with a summary of a clear and concise fashion. The main topics of the article should be clearly indicated with settings and/or subheadings. Arrange the manuscript as follows: title page, abstract, text, references, tables, figures, and legends. Manuscripts must be submitted on a disk, preferably in Microsoft Word. A double-spaced hard copy version of the final manuscript, free of handwritten alterations, must accompany the disk. All components of the manuscript must appear within a single electronic file: references, figure legends, and tables must appear at the end of the manuscript. Please refrain from using end notes as references or automatic list numbering because these features are lost in conversion: simply type the reference number in parentheses in the text and type the reference list. Formatting, such as Greek letters, italics, super- and subscripts, may be used: the coding scheme for such elements must be consistent throughout.

TITLE PAGE

The title page should include the authors' names and highest academic degree, clinical and academic titles, and department and institution where the work was done. Designate one author as primary and supply his or her complete mailing address, telephone, fax number, and email address. Every person listed as an author should have substantially participated in the production of the manuscript and verify the accuracy of the entire manuscript before its submission. Manuscripts should generally not have more than three (3) authors; a greater number requires justification. Include a short title, maximum length 40 characters, to be used as a running head.

ABSTRACT

An abstract of 150 words or less should be provided that summarizes the pertinent findings and conclusions of the article. Do not include abbreviations, footnotes, statistical values, and references in the abstract. Type the abstract on a separate page.

TEXT

The text of the articles is usually, but not necessarily, divided into sections with the headings: Historical Background, Surgical Considerations, Technical Aspects, Alternate Procedures, Complications, Rehabilitation, and Conclusion. Other reasonable headings or subheadings may be appropriately utilized. Avoid claiming priority throughout the text.

REFERENCES

Authors are responsible for verifying the accuracy and completeness of references. References should be carefully selected, not exhaustive, preferably limited to no more than 20. References should be numbered in order of citation (not listed alphabetically by author). List all authors when six (6) or fewer are quoted; when more, list the first three (3), then add et al. Use abbreviations of journal titles conforming to Index Medicus. Include complete opening and closing page numbers for each citation. Avoid using abstracts as references. Personal communications and other unpublished data may be included in the text if absolutely pertinent and referenced in parentheses. Include with the submitted manuscript a signed permission for unpublished comments from the originator of the personal communication.

ILLUSTRATIONS

Illustrations (photographs, drawings, algorithms, tables, and graphs) that are important for the message of the manuscript should be submitted. Care should be taken in selecting appropriate illustrations for inclusion in the manuscript itself. All illustrations must be extremely clear and reproducible. Alternatively, sketches of proposed drawings may be submitted and will be professionally redrawn by the journal's artist at the editor's sole discretion. Submit three (3) complete sets of all illustrations with the exception of tables, graphs, algorithms, and author sketches for line art. All pictorial material should be submitted in a separate envelope. Print or type the following on a gummed label attached to the back of each illustration: figure number (correlating to order of appearance in the text), primary author's last name, and an arrow indicating the top of the illustration. Never write directly onto the back or front of illustrations.

Figures may be submitted in electronic format. Images should be provided in EPS or TIF format on Zip disk, CD, floppy, Jaz, or 3.5 MO. Graphics software such as Photoshop and Illustrator, not presentation software such as PowerPoint, CorelDraw, or Harvard Graphics, should be used to create the art. Color images must be CMYK, at least 300 DPI, with a digital color proof, not a color laser print or color photocopy (this proof will be used at press for color reproduction). Gray scale images should be at least 300 DPI and accompanied by a proof. Combinations of gray scale and line art should be at least 1200 DPI and accompanied by a proof. Line art (black and white or color) should be at least 1200 DPI and accompanied by a proof. Please include hardware and software information, in addition to the file names.

RADIOGRAPHIC IMAGES

Submit three (3) sets of glossy 5 × 7 inch black-and-white prints made from original radiographic images. Electronic scans or photocopies will not be accepted.

PHOTOGRAPHS

If photographs of persons are used, either the subjects must not be identifiable or the person's written permission to use the photograph must accompany the manuscript. Clear photographs should be submitted with appropriate cropping to remove extraneous aspects. If labels are needed on a photograph (eg, arrows or letters), they should be professionally applied. All labels need to be discussed in the legend correlating to the figure. Magnification on photomicrographs should be given in the legend.

ALGORITHMS/GRAPHS

These should be produced in clear text without overcrowding. A size large enough to allow reduction when reproduced should be submitted. Computer generated graphs and/or algorithms should be printed on a laser-quality printer.

TABLES

Tables should be clear and concise and should avoid overcrowding. They should be typed or printed double spaced on a single sheet of paper.

LINE DRAWINGS

Line drawings should be carefully selected to reinforce the most important points of the manuscript. In consultation with, and after approval by, the Editor, authors' sketches may be submitted to be redrawn professionally by a medical illustrator with the cost for these borne by the journal. Any additional line drawings not approved by the Editor should be professionally produced and are the responsibility of the author. Any figures utilized from a previous publication should be appropriately labeled and cited as such.

PERMISSIONS

Direct quotations, tables, or illustrations taken from copyrighted material must be accompanied by written permissions for their use from the publisher. The permission is represented as a footnote or addition to the legend and the source must be included as a reference. Authors should request permission for both print and electronic rights at the time of application and are responsible for paying any fees associated with that application.

REVISED MANUSCRIPTS

Revised manuscripts should be submitted in the same format as the original manuscripts and should be accompanied by a letter from the author indicating their responses to the reviewers' comments.

SPECIAL FEATURES

Letters to the editor of substantial interest and relevance may be considered for publication. Letters should be limited to 500 words, and no guarantee of publication is provided. Response will be invited from the authors of the manuscript cited and/or response will be provided by the Editorial Board.
